Problem Statement

Weekend Challenge #11

You recently joined as the CPO of a startup JobCulture.

For years, job posting by companies and applying for the job by candidates has been text based. Job-seekers aren't always able to figure out the profile/role intricacies at any company from a job description doc.

With the advent of short form video platforms in the social media space, you decided to build a product for the job market in which you want to go with a video first approach rather than text first approach.

Your task is to build the MVP in the near future.

1. What is the Total Addressable Market for your Product?
(Think user persona you'll launch with)
2. What are the features/value propositions which will go in your MVP? Think for both the stakeholders, i.e, B2B and B2C.
(Kindly detail/spec out the ideas along with wireframes and feel free to add flow charts or state diagrams as required)
3. What will be your monetisation model?

Note : Please submit the assignment to this mail id pmschoolx@gmail.com by 31st July 12 pm (Friday).

Alert : Chance for a mock interview with one of our mentors. (Top assignment)

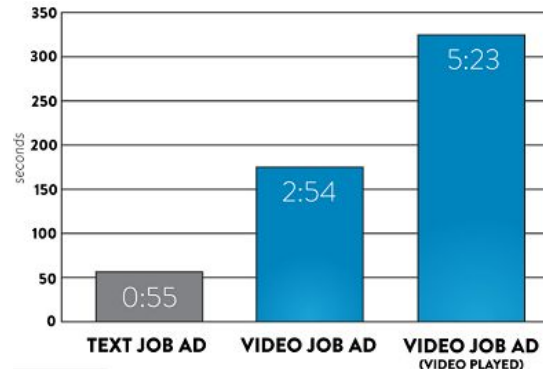

JobCulture

JobCulture is the platform build for the job market in which recruiter can go with a video first approach rather than text first approach for job description. Where companies can post the job, company information, market their product and candidates can search and apply for the company and job.

A video job description is a brief, video-based overview for a specific job opening that may include a summary of the position's responsibilities, qualifications, expectations, and often showcases the workspace, current employees, and company culture.

Competitor: Ongig

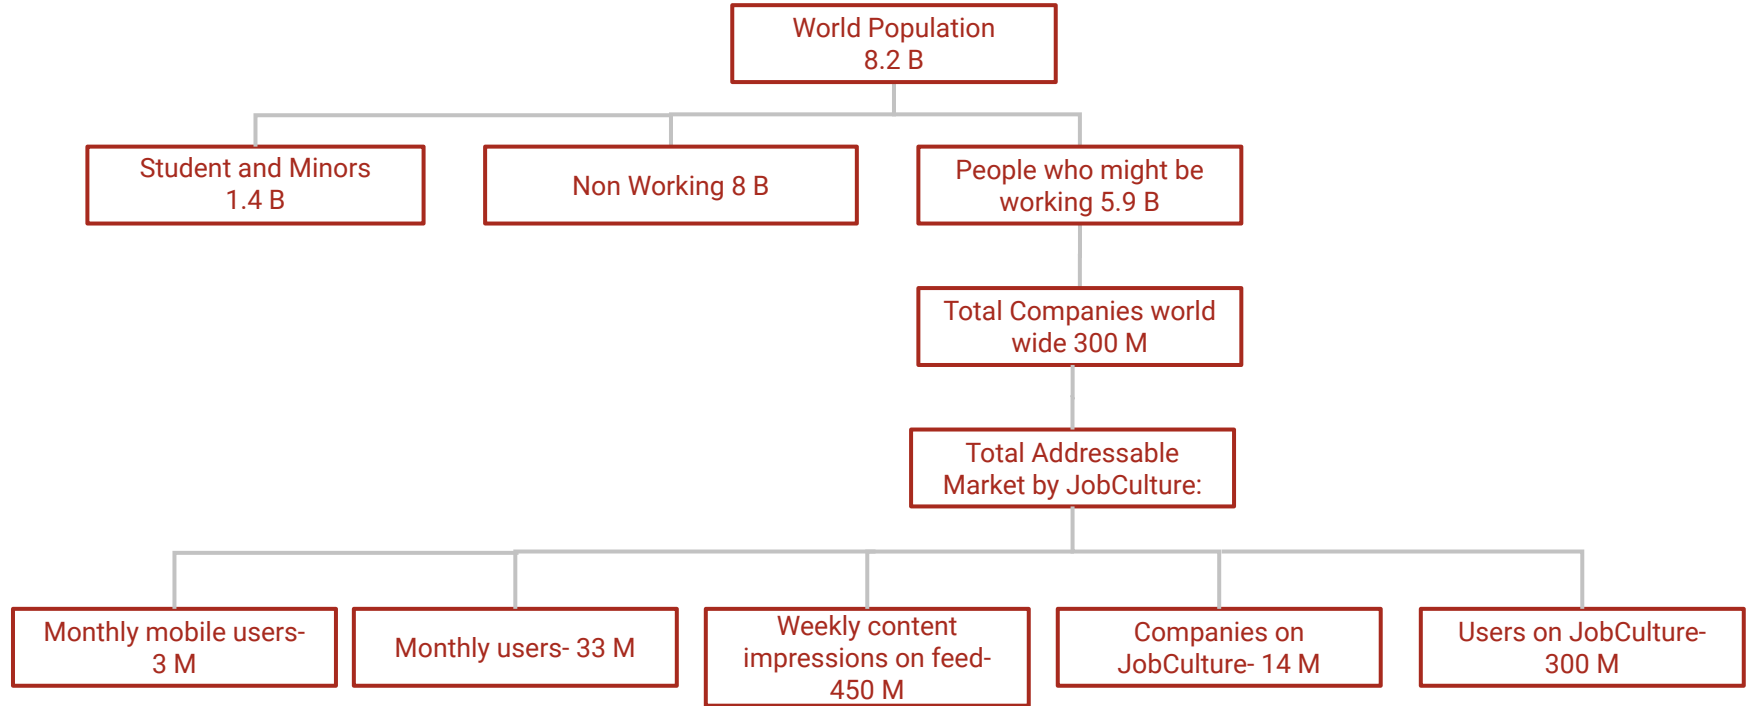

Study shows time spend on text based ads and video based ads:

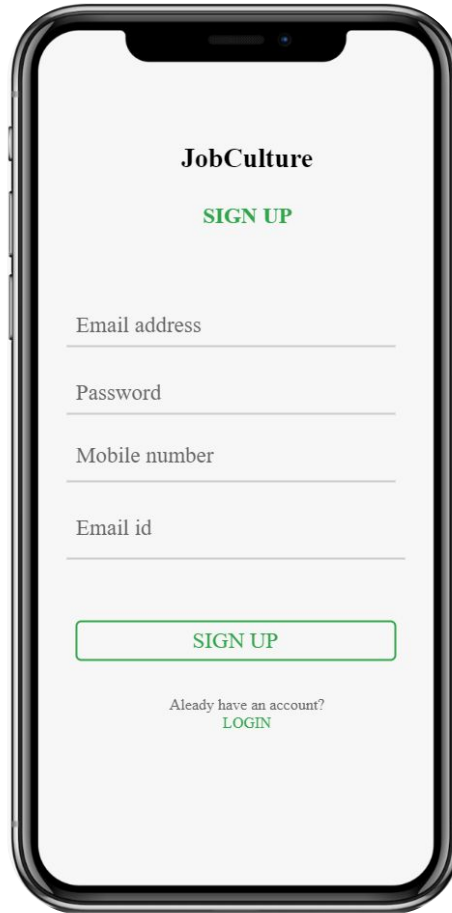

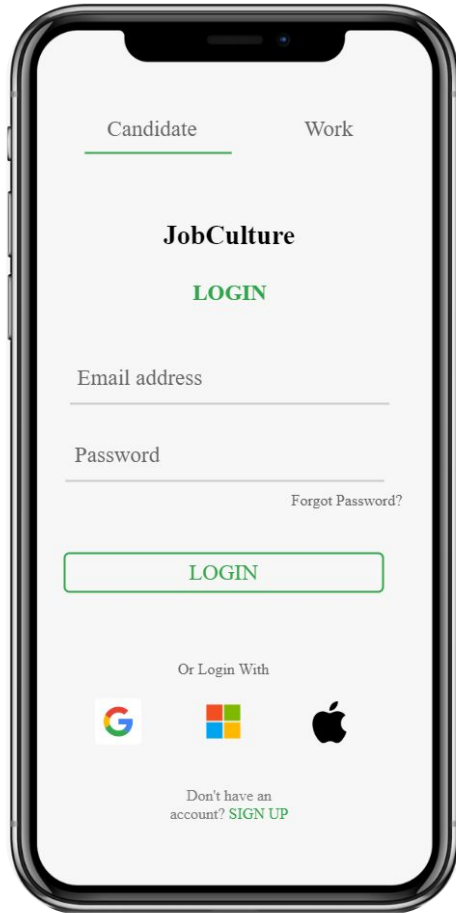

Video v/s Text

1. Videos Grab People's Attention
 - People are over 27 times more likely to click on an online video ad than a static banner ad.
2. Videos Engage Viewers
 - Videos get 1,200% more shares than text and images combined. It's been said that one-minute video is worth to 1.8 million words.
3. Videos Drive More Traffic to Your Website
 - Videos are great for SEO. Videos are 45 times more likely to rank on the first page of Google than text results.
4. Videos are Memorable and Improve Brand Recall
 - Studies show that viewers retain 95% of a video's message compared to 10% when reading text
5. Videos Help Increase Buying Intent
 - A positive experience from a customer with a video ad can increase purchase intent by 97%.

Total Addressable Market by JobCulture

Wireframe

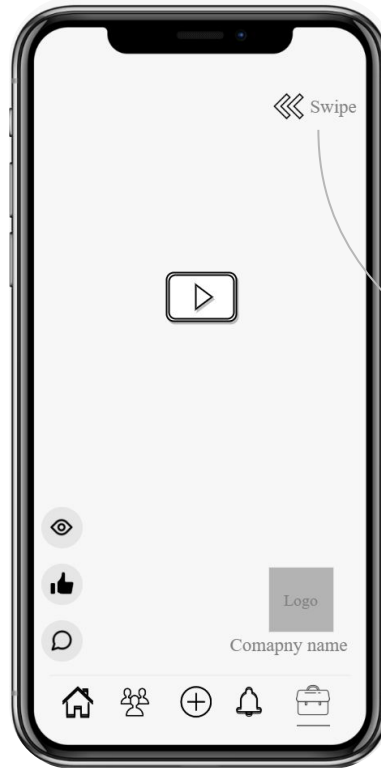

- Job Seeking or recruiting right candidate has never been this easy thanks to user friendly JobCulture app, which has made it easier.
- Users are navigate to SIGN UP page, where first time user are required to fill details for the validation.
- If the users already has an account, he just needs to LOGIN for the app.

B2C User Persona

Jay, actively applying for the job. He is tired of reading text-based job descriptions filled with bulleted lists and information about the qualifications companies were looking for.

Gayle, while reading job description come across qualifications and experience that are sought after for that specific role by the company. But for culture, values, employee experience, review she need to search for different site/channel

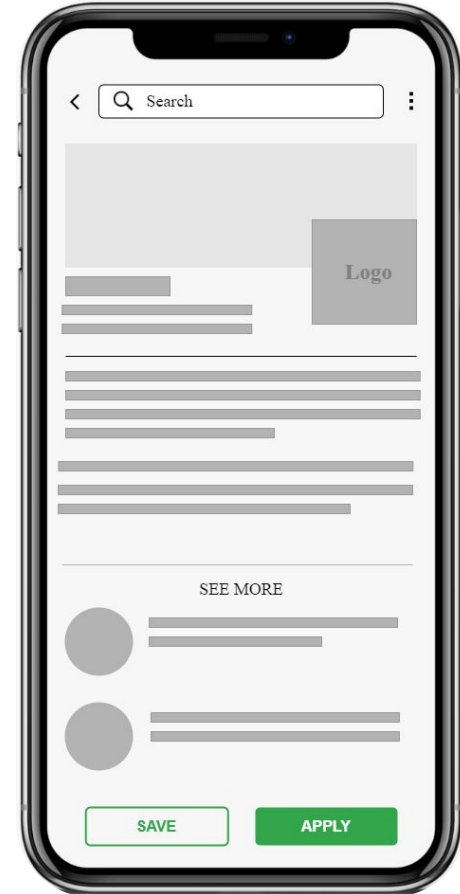

Solution:

Video job descriptions can now include a variety of content formats to educate candidates and encourage them to apply.

It can be a video communicating your culture, values, employee experience and much more.

User has to swipe left for more details about company.

- Candidate can see more details or position for the same company, and candidate can apply for the the post.
- Company maintain their JobCulture page to spread awareness, market their product, to attract the jobseekers and tries to connect professionally.

B2B Users Persona

Neha, recruiter at MNC. She wants to increase awareness, engagement and conversions.

Roger, usually conducts screening round(face to face) but in this pandemic, he is unable to evaluate candidate's behaviour, soft skills, confident through telephonic call. JobCulture helps Roger to screen by asking the candidate to upload the given question in video form within specified time. (Recruiters can also ask for the short video upload to candidate for specified questions and time).

Solutions:

- When it comes to ROI, 83% of the marketers say video is one of the top providers.
- Video increased the time on site metric for 80% of marketers.
- The research also revealed that website visitors prefer to learn information and details via video.
- Specifically within Recruitment Marketing, job postings that include video garner 12% more views than postings without.
- Videos within job descriptions can also help drive a 34% higher application rate.

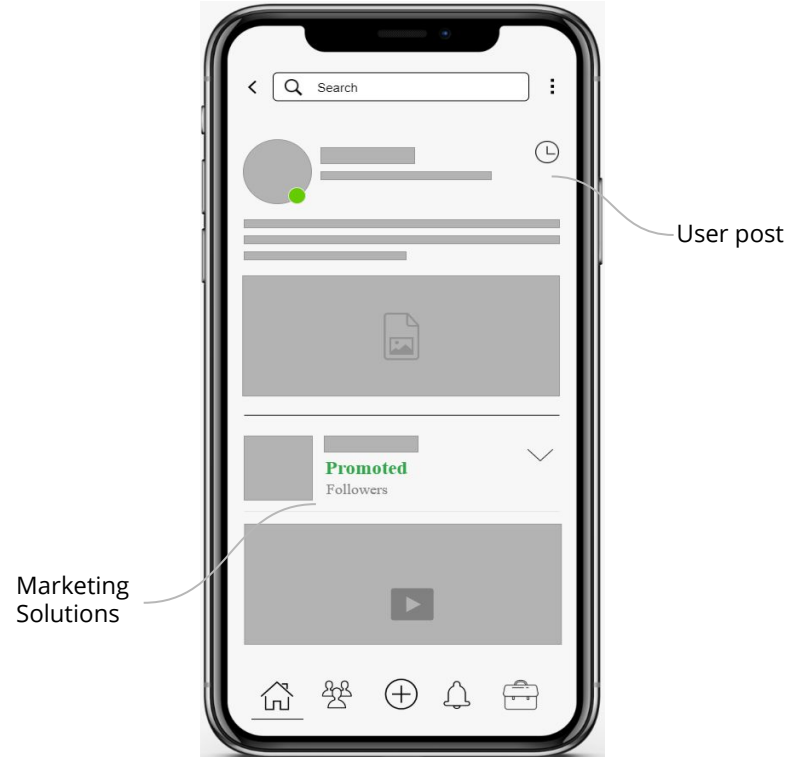

Monetisation Model

- JobCulture- “freemium” business model; most of the site and features are available free of charge to all users, with value-added premium products available only to paying customers.
- Most of the JobCulture revenue will be generated from three major services:
 - Talent Solutions
55% will come from recruitment services, known as Talent Solutions, sold to professional recruiters and employers. Talent Solutions exists in two parts: Hiring, and Learning and Development (L&D). Hiring helps recruiters attract, recruit, and hire talent, whereas Learning and Development offers learning content, such as online courses, to enterprise clients and individuals.

- Marketing Solutions:

Marketing Solutions provides a platform for companies to advertise to JobCulture users. It will account about 25% of total revenue, from a combination of advertising sold to online marketers and the sale of "sponsored updates" posted to a target audience of members in the JobCulture feed.

Revenue by displaying ads—the 300×250 and 728×90 banners on the site.

- Premium Subscriptions

The remaining 17% of revenue will be generated through premium subscriptions. Premium subscriptions allow members to increase their search results significantly, send messages on JobCulture's email system (rather than just receive them), contact members outside of their networks, and see information about people who have viewed their profiles.

Included in Premium Subscriptions is Sales Solutions, which helps salespersons generate quality leads and increase sales through social networking. Since basic membership is free, JobCulture will make a good portion of its revenue from a minority of its users.

Metrics for Hiring Managers

- How do you measure the effectiveness of a video job ad?
 - Time-on-page (typically the longer a candidate spends on a page, the more they are examining your job opportunity).
 - Apply rate (the number of people who view a video then apply).
 - The hire ratio (the number of people who view a video, then apply and then get hired).
 - Quality of hire.
 - Sourcing channel effectiveness.
 - Time to hire.

THANK YOU!
